Introduction	Guarantee the tightness of your charging ports with the CO 4058 set. These precision shells, with their specific dimensions of 18.35 x 5.1mm, are essential for restoring hermeticity to air-conditioning circuits and preventing refrigerant losses.
Text	CO 4058 is a high-quality technical consumable, indispensable for the maintenance of modern air-conditioning systems (R134a and R1234yf). Precise dimensions (18.35 x 5.1mm): Compact format specifically designed for certain service ports where standard valve cores won't fit. Total Fluid/Oil Compatibility: High-performance elastomer seals resistant to R134a and R1234yf gases, as well as PAG and POE oils. Hermetic closure: Internal spring mechanism calibrated to ensure an immediate and lasting seal, even under high operating pressures. Professional materials: Robust design resists oxidation and chemical attack, ensuring maximum load-carrying longevity. 5-piece pack: Optimized packaging for workshops, enabling rapid replacement during periodic maintenance or following a leak detected on the valve.
